

Graduation Speech (Class Of 2017/2018)

Dear guests, lecturers, parents and fellow classmates MERHABA!

It's a great privilege standing here in front of all of you to deliver this year's graduating speech. I want to say a cheerful congratulations to my fellow graduates on reaching this very important milestone in academic pursuit.

Personally, I am overwhelmed, proud and at the same time I am humble that the time has come to say goodbye. Looking back, it looks like yesterday, it's funny how time flies. We had our best days within the past 4 years, we learned new things, made new friends, laughed, faced challenges that had made us better and prepared us to face the world.

I want to say a big thank you to our great university of Kyrenia, the academic and non-academic staff for creating this life experience, modeling and shaping us for the larger society. Your unwavering dedication, excellent work ethics for the past 4 years made today possible.

The great Mustapha Kemal Ataturk taught us that "people that say I will succeed in the beginning, will say, I have succeeded at the end".

So, to my fellow graduates, I am glad to say that "we came, we saw and we conquered".

The sail was a great one, however, the end of this chapter turns the page for the beginning of a new chapter. As we go out to the larger society, I pray that experience we had here will be put to great use. I wish you all success in all your future endeavors.

On behalf of my fellow graduates, we say thank you to everyone that supported and believed in us. Also, we say thank you to all of you present here this afternoon to witness our graduation ceremony.

TESEKKUR EDERIM.
